

COOKIE POLICY

In Zarja grupa d.o.o. we respect your privacy and fully acknowledge its importance. This is precisely why we are committed to the transparency of the technologies we use. This "Cookie Policy" explains how and why web beacons, pixels, and other similar technologies can store data and access them from your device when you visit our web site.

By continuing to use or browse our site, you agree with the storage and access to cookies and other tracking technologies as described in this "Cookie Policy".

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small file that can be saved to your computer when you visit a website, to the extent you consent to this. The cookie allows a website to recognize when an "old" user reconnected by memorizing his settings.

Cookies can store a lot of information, but information can only be saved if the user allows it. Websites cannot get access to the information unless they were granted it by the user, nor can they access other files on the user's computer. Cookies do not contain any personal data or information that could identify the user, i.e. you. You can change your online settings at any time, choose whether or not to approve or reject cookie saving requests, or if you will automatically delete saved cookies when you close your web browser etc.

What are other tracking technologies?

Similar to cookies, other tracking technologies set up small data files on your devices or track your activity on the web page so that we can find out more about how you use our site. This also enables our site to differentiate between your device and that of other users of the site.

How does our site use cookies and other tracking technologies?

Zarja grupa d.o.o. uses cookies and other tracking technologies to recognize you and your interests, remember your preferences and see how you use our website. We also use cookies and other tracking technology to control access to specific content on our site, to ensure site security, and to process all the requests you submit.

For the purpose of managing our pages and for research purposes, Zarja Group d.o.o. has also entered into third-party service providers contracts for the tracking and analysis of statistical data on the usage and volume of our site's user information. These third-party service providers use permanent cookies to help us improve user experience, manage the content of our site and analyze how users behave and use sites.

As a means to measure and improve the efficiency of our email communications and / or determine whether the messages have been read and links clicked on, third-party service providers may set cookies on those users' devices.

For more information on how these companies collect and use information on our behalf, please review their privacy policies as outlined below.

We use the following types of cookies:

Permanent cookies.

We use this type of cookies to improve your experience when using the site. This includes recording your acceptance of our Cookie Policy to remove the cookie message that appears for the first time when you use the site.

Session cookies.

These cookies are temporary and are deleted from your device when you close your browser. We use session cookies to assist in monitoring the Internet usage as described above.

As noted, it is possible to refuse to accept browser cookies by activating the appropriate settings on your browser. However, if you choose this setting, you may not be able to access certain parts of the pages. If you did not customize your browser settings so that it rejects cookies, our system will issue cookies once you have directed your browser to our site.

The data collected by the pages and / or through cookies that can be set on your computer will not be kept longer than it is necessary for the fulfillment of the abovementioned purpose. In any case, such information will not be kept for more than one year.

For what purposes do we use cookies?

Strictly necessary / Technical

These cookies are necessary for us to be able to work with our site so that you can access it as you requested. They also include cookies that allow us to memorize your previous actions within the same browsing session and secure our pages.

Analytical / Performance

These cookies are used by us or third-party service providers to analyze how the pages are used and how they work. For example, these cookies track which pages are most visited and what are the locations our visitors come from. If you subscribe to a newsletter or otherwise register on the site, these cookies may be in a reciprocal relationship with you. These cookies include, for example, Google Analytics cookies.

Functionality

These cookies allow us to manage the page according to your choices. These cookies let us "remember" you between visits. For example, we will recognize your username and remember how you have customized your pages and services, such as adjusting the size of text, fonts, languages, and other modifiable parts of web pages, and we will then provide the same adjustments during future visits.

Third-Party Advertising

These cookies collect information about your activities on this site to give you targeted advertising. We can also allow our third-party service providers to use cookies for the same abovementioned purposes, including gathering information about your online activities over time and on different web pages. The third-party service providers that generate cookies such as Adobe, Google, LinkedIn, and Facebook have their own privacy policies and can use their cookies to provide you with targeted advertising on other web pages based on your visits to our site.

How do I decline or change my cookie use consent?

If you do not want cookies to be sent to your device, you can set the Internet browser setting to decline all or some of the cookie settings and receive alerts when the cookie is set to your device. For more information on how to do this, see www.allaboutcookies.org. Please note that if you use browser settings to block all cookies (including the strictly necessary cookies), you may not be able to access or use all parts or functionalities of our site.

If you want to remove the previously stored cookies, you can manually delete cookies at any time. However, this will not prevent pages from sending cookies to your device unless and until you have customized your browser settings as described above.
